Perseverance.
Robert Louis Stevenson tells of a Welsh blacksmith who at the age of twenty-five could neither read nor write. He then heard a chapter of "Robinson Crusoe" read aloud. It was the scene of the wreck, and he was so impressed by the thought of that he missed by his ignorance that he set to work that very day and was not satisfied until he had learned to read Welsh. His disappointment was great when he found all his plans had been thrown away, for he could only obtain an English copy of the book he was so anxious to read. Nothing daunted, he began once more and learned English and at last had the joy and triumph of being able to read the delightful story for himself.

Hard to Believe.
"Think of it, my dear," remarked Mrs. Emily Street, looking up from the morning paper she had cab-baged at the breakfast table, "just think of it! This paper says that there are three thousand millions of dollars in circulation in this country!"
"Is that so?" responded Mr.
Street, as cheerfully as possible under the circumstances. "Well, well!
Judging from the difficulty I always experience in getting you to give me 10 cents more than carfare every morning, I thought there couldn't be more than $3.50 in the whole world."
Conversation languished a good bit after that—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Why He Knocked.

Small Welsh station:
Porter—Yes, you see, sir, it's no good tapping at the office window.
It will not open until ten minutes before the train starts whatever you do.

Benighted Traveler (who wishes to reach Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgog-gerboothysiliogoggo)—Ten minutes?
Good gracious! Why, it'll take me a quarter of an hour to tell 'em where I want to go.—London Mail.

Friendship.

Friendship that flows from the heart cannot be frozen by adversity, as the water that flows from the spring cannot congeal in winter.—Cowper.

TALKER

A PLAY EVERY MARRIED WOMAN SHOULD SEE.

Just try it and see how satisfactory. The whole of the wheat properly baked in the sweetest of surroundings. Fresh bread daily and always a bit better than the best baked elsewhere. Feather-light, yet full weight—and ALL the other good points kneaded in.

WOMEN'S SUITS $25.00

"It amazes me to see what pretty suits you are showing for twenty-five dollars," said a customer. "I have always been accustomed to paying thirty-five and forty dollars for my suits, but these are good enough for me." We hear similar exclamations every day. Our $25.00 line surprises every one.
It surprises us, in fact. When we selected the materials for these swagger suits, even we ourselves did not realize how splendid the finished article was going to be. Charming styles—beautiful, new materials in black, tan, navy blue and other fashionable shades. Plain tailored models as well as suits for strictly mourning wear.

Women's Serge Dresses

We have an exceptionally choice line of one-piece serge dresses at $5.00. Smart, new styles, all neatly trimmed with silk in contrasting effects. The serge is of nice quality—neatly finished 5.00

Women's Lingerie Dresses

Six dainty styles in this collection of lingerie dresses at $6.00. White only—elaborately trimmed with fine Cluny and Valenciennes laces and embroidery; also all over embroidery effects 6.00

Women's Dress Skirts

We have a splendid assortment of tailored skirts at five dollars. The materials include mannish serges, whipcords and smart mixtures—many pretty effects—various new styles.
Well tailored 5.00

Women's Spring Coats

Nice garments for early spring wear. Made of fine serges, whipcords and smart mannish mixtures, trimmed with contrasting silks and pearl buttons. Loose and semi-fitted effects —excellent coats at 17.50
